More overleaf

"Enlightening and professionally delivered and supported.
An invigorating, challenging and insightful experience and way of considering life coaching. Highly recommended."

Malcolm Fender, Trainer (NLP Master Practitioner)

This six-day* course, run over three modules, provides a thorough foundation in coaching based on NLP skills, attitudes and techniques.

This is for you if you coach or want to coach as part of your work e.g. as a manager, leader, consultant, trainer or health professional. It is also highly relevant if you want to start, develop or accelerate your career in coaching. Additionally you'll be able to apply these skills in numerous other ways including for your personal growth and for enhancing the quality of your communication in areas such as personal relationships and business.

"Life changing experience ... Cannot now imagine coaching without NLP techniques ... Many thanks for your excellent facilitating style and humour. "

Kris Woodcock, Ex-Teacher, Coach

- Assist people to be more resourceful.
- Change habits and overcome negative feelings.
- Generate and learn new behaviours.
- Avoid words that create limiting mind-sets.
- Deal with negative self-talk and help people transform their 'Inner Critic'.
- Discover how individuals structure time - to manage their time better and to make their goals more compelling.
- Enhance self-esteem.
- Take on the traits of the most successful people.
- Use the NLP Model of Communication.

Certification: Certification as an 'NLP Coach' is accredited through INLPTA (and is dependant upon reaching a satisfactory level of behavioural competence). (INLPTA: the International NLP Trainer's Association.) Completion of this course will also provide you with our NLP Coaching Diploma, endorsed by the Professional Guild of NLP. (It includes our NLP Diploma Certification which also contributes towards our NLP Practitioner Certification course.)

NLP Coach Practitioner: For those who are already NLP Practitioners, the last module of this NLP Coaching Diploma Course also leads into our 'NLP Coach Practitioner' course.

Previous NLP Experience? If you are already an INLPTA certified NLP Practitioner or equivalent, you can attend the first two modules at half price or attend the third module only. Please enquire.

"Excellent course. This has given me my life back on a personal and business level. ... Has helped my self-belief and to look objectively at how I can continually improve my practice to add depth to my business interventions and to be more patient with my daughters."
