Why NLP

NLP is becoming increasingly well-known as being at the forefront of the field of personal and interpersonal skills development.

NLP is based on studying how people experience the world and communicate with others, and what the core skills and attitudes of successful and fulfilled people are. This has led to a whole range of traits and step-by-step procedures for developing skills in communication, self-awareness and personal evolution. You can use NLP to enhance your effectiveness, overcome problems and generate excellence in almost any area of human experience.

Previous participants on this course have applied what they've learnt to enhance:

Coaching	Counselling	Teaching
Management	Sales	Customer Service
Training	Nursing	Making friends
Consulting	Social Work	and of-course
Therapy	Getting a job	Personal Development
Supervising	Parenting
